

Everel. The essence
of your appliance.

Do you work in the field of electromechanical components for small and large household appliances? Then Everel is simply the right partner you are looking for. Everel offers you everything you need, from switches, selectors and encoders to shaded pole motors and heating elements, from signal lights and pressure switches to heating and ventilation systems. And so much more. Everel is definitely the right soul to put inside your products to make them work at their very best. With Everel you can count on solid manufacturing tradition, outstanding quality and product innovation achieved by investments in technology and automation. Because of these values, Everel has become a market leader with a wide product range and advanced solutions capable to win the competition on the global market. For your products, demand the best. Demand Everel.

Everel
ELECTRIC THINKING

www.everel.eu